[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Denver, Colo., July 7.—The great democratic convention in session here today at twelve o'clock National Chairman Thomas Taggart of Iowa read the call for the convention amid great applause.

Earlier in the day the New Jersey delegation had as stormy a session as did Pennsylvania yesterday and endorsed a tray of Delaware for president. The unit rule was adopted.

The turn down that was given Tom Johnson of Cleveland yesterday by the Ohio delegation's caucus yesterday was made formal this morning when he was defeated for membership of the national committee.

the gathering into some semblance of order a huge picture of Bryan was brought into the hall and the cheering redoubled in intensity.

Bishop John J. Keane of Wyoming delivered the invocation. Following the prayer Taggart announced the temporary officers. Each in name was greeted with applause. The list was read and adopted by the convention.

UNDERWRITERS MEET IN ATLANTIC CITY

First Three McNeil Medals Will be Awarded for Heroic Acts in Past Year.

Atlanta City, N. J., July 7.—Insurance men to the number of about 300 from all over the country attended the opening here today of the annual convention of the International Association of Accident Underwriters.

The meeting will continue through Wednesday and Thursday, and the programme provides for discussions of various interesting phases of the accident underwriters business.

One of the most interesting features of the convention will be the awarding of the first McNeil medals, named in honor of the memory of one of the founders of the association, to three persons in the United States and Canada who performed during the year deeds of heroism, which resulted in the saving of human life.

The recipients were selected by the committee of the association from a long list submitted for its approval.

The McNeil medal, which is of Tiffany design and production, is about two inches in diameter, suspended from a bar and bearing on one side a portrait of the late George E. McNeil.

The reverse side and the bar are suitably inscribed with the name of the association, the name of the one to whom it is awarded and the occasion of the meritorious deed.

FOURTEEN BATTLESHIPS SAILED FOR HONOLULU

Start On Long Voyage Which Will End In Hampton Roads Next Spring.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] San Francisco, Cal., July 7.—Fourteen first-class battleships of the American navy, under command of Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, sailed today for Honolulu, a trip of 2,100 nautical miles, and which will form the first leg of the voyage which will have its end at Hampton Roads next spring.

Responding to the salutes from the Presidio, the stately white vessels drew anchors from the rendezvous ground in San Francisco bay, stemmed out through the Golden Gate and were lost to view on the Western horizon.

Black smoke being the last visible vestige of the departing fleet. At ten knots speed they went, turning their backs on the city where they were given such a rousing welcome two months ago.

The belted sides of each armor-clad were fairly stuffed today with the press of heavy stores and ammunition, while decks resounded with the footfalls of a thousand men in quarters. On a mission as pacific as the name of the waters they are now ploughing the warships were sent away prepared in every detail for any duty.

As a naval pageant the departure today was second only to the arrival and review of the fleet here. The guns which had voiced a welcome to the fleet upon its arrival uttered a good-by tribute as the vessels passed out of the bay.

The fleet is due to arrive at Honolulu July 16 and will remain there one week. Arrivals have already been received here telling of the elaborate plans made at Honolulu for the entertainment of the officers and men there.

One of the features of the programme will be an old-fashioned Hawaiian hula. This is a ceremonial bestowal of gifts. These may be of various kinds, but in the present instance it will be gifts of fruits.

From all over the islands fruits of every sort which grow there, and are ripe at this season of the year will be sent to Honolulu, while the fleet is there.

The following itinerary has been arranged for the fleet after its departure from Honolulu:

Arrive Auckland, 3,850 nautical miles, August 8.
Leave Auckland August 15, arrive Sydney, 1,284 miles, August 20.

Leave Sydney August 27, arrive Melbourne, 576 miles, August 29.
Leave Melbourne September 5, arrive Albany (King George's Sound), 1,350 miles, September 11.

Leave Albany September 17, arrive Philippines 3,500 miles, October 1.
Leave Philippines October 10, arrive Yokohama, 1,750 miles, October 17.

Leave Yokohama October 21, arrive Amoy (second squadron), 1,843 miles, October 29.

Leave Amoy November 4, when the first squadron arrives at Manila, 666 miles, October 24, and the second squadron November 7.

The reorganization of the fleet for the cruise has placed the ships in the various divisions as follows: First division—Connecticut, flagship; Kansas, Minnesota and Vermont. Second division—Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island. Third division—Louisiana, Virginia, Ohio and Missouri. Fourth division—Wisconsin, Illinois, Kearsarge and Kentucky.

THE GREAT DENVER CONVENTION CALLED TO ORDER TODAY.

BANKS TO SHARE THE CITY'S CASH

PAYING INTEREST THEREON AT RATE OF TWO PER CENT.

FOR INTERURBAN FRANCHISE

Was Given a Special Second Reading
at Meeting of Common Council
Last Evening—Other Business.

In response to a question from Ald. O'Hara, at the meeting of the common council last evening, City Attorney Maxfield expressed an opinion that the four local banks had the undoubted right to abandon competition and pool their bid for the city money, and by resolution the joint proposal to pay two per cent on daily balances, computed monthly, was accepted, and such institution was designated as an official depository and required to file a bond in the sum of $20,000. So the rate of interest hereafter will be two per cent instead of 4.2875 per cent which the First National has been paying during the fiscal year which has just closed. The city clerk was directed by order to draw on the treasurer in favor of the First National bank, payable from the general fund, in the sum of $3,044 for the redemption of city note No. 43, issued June 9, 1908, also in favor of the Merchants & Mechanics Savings bank in the sum of $3,050, $3,028, and $3,020, to redeem notes Nos. 90, 91, and 92. The finance committee's report on bills and the city treasurer's report for the month ending June 30 were approved. Further time was granted to the committee for the consideration of a communication asking that an alleged error in the assessment of the J. M. Crandall property at the corner of Main street and Eastern avenue be corrected.

New Interurban Franchise.
On motion of Chairman Sheridan of the committee on highways, the application of the Beloit, Delavan Lake & Janesville Railway Co. for a new franchise in place of the defective one granted on May 12, 1901, and variously amended since that time, was given a special second hearing. The old grant provided only for urban and not interurban traffic, according to a recent decision of the supreme court. Attorneys representing the interurban company, and W. H. H. Maclean, Floyd D. Murdoch, and Adah B. Dranshaw, owners of property fronting the loop, were present at the meeting last evening. It is understood that there may be some opposition when the proposed franchise comes up for final action at a future meeting.

Health of the City.
Health Commissioner G. C. Wauffe gave an account of his stewardship since May 1, showing that there had been eleven cases of contagious disease, all of which had been duly quarantined. At the present time there exists one case and it is located at 204 W. Bluff street. Through the health commissioner and the city attorney the city has entered into a contract with John Palmer to take charge of the detention hospital. Since May 1, 13 neophytes, 25 deaths, 31 births and 44 marriages have been reported.

Bonds Approved.
Bonds of all of the applicants for liquor licenses as well as those of Oscar and Hattie Hand, second hand dealers, and Sam Anton and A. Wilcoz, junk dealers, were found in due form and accepted on motion of Chairman Smith of the judiciary committee. The latter also moved that the bond of W. S. Jeffers as police and fire commissioner be approved, and toward the gratulatory comment: "I don't believe he had anything to do with changing the rules so as to beat the council." The motion passed.

Departmental Reports.
The municipal court report for June showed that fees, fines and penalties amounting to $121.77 had been collected.
Geo. T. Croft, superintendent of the stone crushing reported that 177 yards of crushed stone had been delivered during the two weeks ending July 4.

The assistant street commissioner's report on new sidewalks needed was approved and the street commissioner directed to have the same constructed. Orders aggregating $2,151.52 were drawn for school purposes during the month of June, according to the report of the board of education.

John Brown submitted reports as city marshal for the months of May and June. Forty-five were arrested in May, of which number forty were taken to court and five discharged. The offenders and offenses were as follows: Thirty-four for drunkenness, eight for being inmates of a house of ill-fame, two for breaking the seals of cars, and one for kidnapping. During June there were sixty arrests. Forty-nine were taken to court and eleven discharged. There was one case of larceny, one of assault and battery, four incorrigible girls, two arrests for statutory offenses, two for violation of city ordinances, four arrested for being inmates and one for keeping a house of ill-fame, and the balance were for drunkenness.

O'Hara Ordinance Defeated.
Ald. O'Hara called for third reading and passage his proposed ordinance providing for the licensing of cement sidewalk builders and uniform regulation of that sort of construction work. There was no argument on the subject but the measure was defeated by a vote of eight to two, only Aldermen Hinchholz and the sponsor of the measure voting in favor of it.

On Trail of Street Car Co.
A resolution offered by Ald. Brown at a previous meeting, empowering the city attorney to take all necessary action to bring the Janesville Street Railway company to trial in the matter of the abandonment of the Forest Park branch, and referred to the judiciary committee for consideration, was brought up again and on their recommendation were passed without opposition.

Must Plank Between Rails.
Orders introduced by Ald. Carle and passed by unanimous vote directed the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. and the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co. to plank between their rails, and for two feet outside of the same, on all streets crossed by their tracks in the city of Janesville, within thirty days after date.

Petitions Referred.
A claim filed by Richard and D. H.

Barry for damage alleged to have been worked on their property on South Pearl street by a sidewalk grade, was referred to the highway committee with instructions to view the premises.

A petition from the T. J. Ziegler Clothing Co. and 107 others requesting that street sweeping be done on Milwaukee and Main streets only after sprinkling, was referred to the highway committee and further time was granted for its consideration. There being no available funds, the highway committee asked that consideration of a petition from residents on Mineral point avenue for a street light at the intersection of that thoroughfare and Palm street be deferred until the next appropriation should be made, and there the matter rests.

New Drinking Fountain.
The street assessment committee was directed to secure bids for the construction of a drinking fountain of the same pattern as the one in front of the Court House park, to be erected near the intersections of Glen and Caroline streets and the city clerk was directed to purchase the necessary castings.

Miscellaneous Business.
Mayor Medley appointed S. H. Dorn as a special policeman from July 1 to August 31, and the appointment was confirmed. The city clerk was directed to have the insurance on the city hall which expires on July 12, renewed for three years.

The John Challen Co. was granted permission to move the Parker building from the corner of E. Milwaukee and Division streets to Ringold street.

The owner of a frame building on lot 84, Smith, Bailey & Stone addition, was given permission to move the same.

To Help the Hospital?
Alderman Sheridan called attention to the fact that it is costing the Sisters of Mercy from $500 to $800 a year to take care of indigent patients and suggested that the city ought to do something towards the permanent support of a bed, if such a thing were possible. He said that Atty. T. S. Nolan would like to be heard in behalf of the proposition and moved that when the meeting adjourned it be to Thursday evening next at eight o'clock, at which time special consideration should be given to the subject. The motion was carried.

Streets and Sidewalks.
Sidewalk grades for the south side of Pleasant street from Academy to Locust and for the west side of Glenfield street from Wells to Jackson street, were filed by the city engineer and accepted.

By a vote of 8 to 2, the council refused to grant a permit for the construction of a cement walk in front of the Whana property on S. Second street, to correspond in width and location with an adjoining walk, inside of and not along the curb line.

In consideration of James A. Father's agreement to construct a standard walk in front of lots 51 and 52, Dickson & Bailey's addition, on S. Bluff street, an order was passed directing that the portion of S. Bluff street in front of the property be graded at the expense of the city.

The street commissioner was directed by order to serve notices on the owners of lots 4, 5, and 6, and the north-half of lot 3, block 1, George Hild's addition, and on the owners of lots 191 and the east one-half of lot 218 in Mitchell's fifth addition, and the owners of lots 1 and 2, block 7, Palmer & Sutherland's addition, to build standard walks in front of the said property on Washington, Rayne and North streets; to build brick crosswalks across Fifth avenue on the north side of Hyatt street, across Fourth avenue on the east side of Fifth avenue, and across Glen street on the east side of Augusta street; repair the crosswalks across Wall street between Madison and Washington streets and the one across Washington street at Wall street; and lay a storm sewer drain at the east end of St. Lawrence avenue in accordance with the plans for improving that thoroughfare.

PAYING HIM BACK

"You got acquainted very suddenly out here on the Pacific coast," wrote the girl tourist to her girl friend.

"At first it is rather a shock
even to a Chicagoan."

"Back home you reach the point in a acquaintance
where you begin saying, 'Yes, indeed,' and fishing around to find out whether you shall make a hit talking books, theater or mechanics to a new man. At the same stage out here he is talking you about the several girls who have individually wrecked his life and broken his heart and how glad he is you are so different."

"In a few more evenings you have forgotten each other's last names and he is reading you a letter from his sister with news about all the home folks and you are advising him about the color of his neckties."

"This little system explains why Reddington Smith and I chanced to be sitting in a secluded corner while he smoked a cigar and finished lecturing me."

"Mind, I'm not saying a word against White," he ended, "only I wouldn't talk with him much, if I were you."

"Strange," I murmured. "That's just what he told me about you this afternoon. Why, really, I had no idea you two were so very much alike."

"I'm no more like White than you are!" spluttered Reddington. "I think it very inconsiderate of you the minute my back is turned to go walking with him in the park. Of course you did —I saw you when you came in. Such upsetting little things are frightfully bad for my weak heart, and I had always thought you sympathetic. Now, the last girl who proposed to me—"

"I haven't done it yet," I gently reminded him.

"Oh, but you will," Reddington said, amiably. "They all do. It's the custom nowadays. I hope you aren't so old-fashioned as still to fancy that men do the heavy work in the proposal line! As I was saying, the last girl led me on to think that I was all the solar system to her and then just as I had begun to get reconciled to the idea of seeing her across the breakfast table every day in the year what did she do but marry another man! It is things like that which inhibit a fol-low's life!"

"Yet nothing could really quench your sweetness of spirit, Reddy," I reminded him.

"Look out," he warned. "You'll be doing it next! Say, I kind of wonder how you would go at it. You see, you're so different!"

"I suppose I do have to practice on some one," I agreed. "I tell you what——I'll propose to you if you'll agree to refuse me! As much as I like you I couldn't stand any joyful acceptance.
Only you must give me time."

"It's fleeting," he protested. "But take all the time you want. When will you? You haven't the nerve!"

"The blow will fall when you least expect it," I told him.

"I dare you," he said. "If I say yes and you back out I'll sue you for breach of promise!"

"It might turn out worse even than that for you," I told him. "I might be revengeful enough to marry you."

"Any old time," he said, and then smiled reflectively. "I wish you would,"
he added.

"You are getting ahead of your cue," I reminded him. "You can't do a thing but sit patiently and wait for me to ask you. It is nothing short of forward and presumptuous for a well-brought-up young man even to show the ghost of an inclination before the girl has signified her preference."

"I wish you would hurry up," he objected. "It is cowardly to bluff!"

"Now," I asked, nodding toward a group of persons who were approaching us.

"Reddington glanced at them and straightened up a trifle as he saw old Mrs. Jones, who is the eagle eye of the hotel; her able partner, Miss Lang, and the fluffy-haired young person with no 'r's in her vocabulary, whom Reddington has been striving to impress of late. They stopped by us and I smiled in a kindly way at Reddington, who quailed at once.

"You haven't answered me," I said to him in dulcet and fervent tones.
"I was just asking Reddington if he would marry me," I explained pleasantly, but seriously, to the waiting group.

"The fluffy-haired
young person grow wide-eyed and blushed. Mrs.
Jones sniffed and pleasure for a joke.
Reddington mopped his brow.

"Go away," he said, weakly. "Go away!"

"Not just yet," I said. "You dared me to do it, and here are witnesses to show that the joke is on you."

"Still, I am afraid that Reddington Smith thinks I have a perverted sense of humor."

Safe Advertising

We stand for safe advertising.

Any other kind is unnecessary.

The day when advertising was speculation is over for the man who knows.

A newspaper campaign can be proved out in six towns just as well as in six hundred.

A magazine campaign can be proved in six mediums just as well as in sixty.

Before one spreads out he can know to a certainty what the results will be.

Our question is never, What are you going to spend?

Though our revenue, as with all agents, is a commission, paid largely to us by magazines and newspapers, on the expenditure.

We ask ourselves, rather, What are the possibilities?

And we accept or refuse an account on our judgment of them.

We can do this because we command the ability to make a success of anything possible.

We are willing to abide by results.

The largest accounts we have were started with small expenditures.

On many, we spent ten times our commission in working out the first campaign.

Each dollar spent came back with a profit. We proved it beyond any question.

Then the advertiser, naturally, spent all the dollars he could.

We are ready to do the same with you,
if your line has possibilities.

We have spent 35 years in advertising.

Yet every week we learn something new of what it can do.

Note how advertising has multiplied in the past few years.

Note the vast variety of little and big things now being made to pay.

Ten years ago most of these things seemed impossible.

Hundreds of these new accounts, in unexplored fields, are due to our development.

We have done so many things, never done before, that we have come to believe that almost anything can now be done by advertising.

But it cannot be done, in these days,
without experience and ability.

There is too much good advertising to leave any chance for the amateur.

We Pay One Ad-Writer

$1,000 per Week

Mr. Claude C. Hopkins, now permanently at the head of our copy department, receives a salary of $1,000 per week.

The highest salary ever paid in advertising.

But Mr. Hopkins, as a salesman in print, is unrivaled.

He has made more money for advertisers, in more different lines, than any other man who ever wrote copy.

Many of the greatest successes of the past twenty years have been due to his copy and schemes.

And he is safe. Experienced enough to avoid the impossible. Able enough to make the possible pay.

We have in our copy department, under Mr. Hopkins, the ablest men we know.

Men whom we pick out without regard to expense, by the brilliant results that we see them accomplish.

We are seeking everywhere, all the time, for the men who make the exceptional records.

In this vortex of advertising—in this school of experience—such men multiply their powers.

All of these writers advise with Mr.
Hopkins. All copy must meet his approval.

Our Advisory Board

Our Advisory Board consists of sixteen men, all masters of advertising.

Each is a man of proved ability, and of vast experience.

Mr. Hopkins is at the head of it.

Before this whole Board comes every large problem of present or possible clients.

Here we discuss the advice to be given to any concern that consults us. And this advice is free.

These sixteen men decide what is possible and what is impossible. They decide on means and schemes and copy.

Thus all the ability, all the experience,
at our command is brought to bear on each problem.

That is why we succeed.

Yet this high-priced talent is not an expense to us; not an expense to our clients.

We handle advertising on the usual agent's commission.

These brilliant men all earn their way by developing the small account into the large one.

By making advertising so profitable that it expands, while minor men would kill it.

It is far cheaper for us to keep advertisers, and to develop them, than to constantly solicit new.

To New Advertisers

If your article has possibilities, tell us about it. We will gladly give you our judgment.

If the thing is impossible, we won't undertake it. We cannot afford the time.
If the thing has a future, we will tell you how to safely prove it out.

We have made hundreds of fortunes in this way.

To Old Advertisers

Give us a limited territory—a limited number of mediums.

Do this, if you wish, without disturbing present relations.

Let us prove our claims. Learn what new ideas our able men may work out for you—what new view-point they can bring to bear.

Then compare the results.

Don't let us argue. Let us leave the question of who gets your advertising to some proved results.

Can you, Mr. Business-Man, neglect such an offer as that?

Please cut out this coupon—now while you think of it. Send it to get our book

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, AMERICAN CITIZEN.

A composite collection of pictures of the most prominent aspirant for the democratic nomination for president is given herewith in striking form. In the center of the pictures are scenes of poses of the great commoner himself. In the upper right hand corner is William J. Bryan, Jr. In the upper left hand corner is Miss Grace Bryan, daughter. In the lower left hand corner is Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, Mr. Bryan's married daughter, who may second his nomination at Denver. At the lower right is Mrs. Bryan, a possible mistress of the White House. The poses of Mr. Bryan himself are unique. They show him at various ages, commencing with the time when he was congressman from Nebraska. In 1891, the congressional picture is the central picture at the top of the layout, showing a comparatively young man, with a full growth of heavy black hair, as he is shown as he looked in 1896, when first nominated for the presidency. In the picture at the left of the central figure, in which he is seated at a desk, in front of a bundle of papers and a paper weight. A little to the left in the picture, and farther down, is a pose on horse back, which shows Mr. Bryan as he appeared when nominated for the second time for the presidency. In 1900, in different places, through the layout Mr. Bryan is shown as he appeared in various places in the course of his world tour. The picture in the middle is his latest. Bryan is the most completely typical plain American citizen in the public eye today. An exceptional chance in here offered for his fellow American to see in many poses and many lights the best known private citizen of our land one who, while holding no conspicuous public office whatever, to lend artificial prestige to his actual personal work, is nevertheless known, respected and admired all around the land.

WONDERFUL DOG AND HIS MASTER JOHN KOELE.

Boonville, Ind.—Leopold Koele, better known as Lee, the large bull-dog owned by John Koele, has brought himself into notoriety again by finding a wallet containing an enormous roll of greenbacks and bringing it to his master. Several persons saw the dog carrying the wallet and attempted to take it from him, but he would not stop for any of them, but made for the blacksmith shop of his master and laid the money at his feet.

There was no name about the purse and the owner may have it by giving Mr. Koele sufficient proof that the purse belongs to him.

Lee is a large brindle bulldog and Mr. Koele recently refused $500 for him after he had exhibited him in a few of his tricks. He is very fond of water and is an expert diver, as he will go to the bottom of a stream and get stones that have been thrown in, sometimes getting them in his mouth before they touch the bottom. As a rat dog he has a reputation of catching three rats that were let out of a wire trap at once.

He will perform on a trapeze and does several different stunts, is a bare-back rider and a performer of several minor stunts.

One of the brightest tricks that have been taught the dog is that which entitles him to be called the "youth blacksmith." When Mr. Koele is shoeing he will go to the tool box and bring Mr. Koele his hammer and tools in the order that they are needed by him, and will hold the latter strap between his teeth, never moving a muscle until he is told by his master to take the horse out and then he will slowly lead the animal to his owner.

Ignorance of South America.

One of our contemporaries referred yesterday to "Little Paraguay." That republic is four-fifths as large as Germany.

Many persons have erroneous notions as to geographical sizes and lengths in South America. They have not the slightest idea that Brazil is nearly as large as the whole of Europe, that the distance between the north and south ends of Chile is as great as that between the North Cape of Europe and Gibraltar, and that steamers ply almost straight north and south on the Parana and its Paraguay affluent for a distance about equal to that between New York and Omaha.—New York Sun.

Model of Economy.

A certain farmer, who is noted for his closeness in money matters, has a 12-year-old son, who is as industrious as his father is parsimonious.

Recently the father and son made a compact whereby the latter would receive ten cents for every cord of wood he sawed and piled in the woodshed. Immediately the boy became very busy at the woodpile and his earnings have been piling up at a rapid rate, his mother keeping her son's hard-earned savings for him.

"What are you going to do with all your money?" the thrifty youth was recently asked.

"Goin' to buy a new saw with it," was the reply.

Leech a Weather Prophet.

A leech confined in a vat of water will prove an excellent weather prophet.

If the weather is to continue fine the leech lies motionless at the bottom of the vat and rolled together in a spiral form.

If it is to rain, either before or after noon, it is found to have crept up to the top of its lodging, and there it remains till the weather is settled.

WORD OF WARNING.

At last evening's session of the common council fifty-one saloons, three brewery agents and three drug stores were given the privilege of selling liquor in Janesville for the coming year. A total of $27,000 was added to the city's treasury.

In Beloit last evening the common council of that corporation turned down twenty-five of the thirty-three saloon permits asked for.

Turned them down because the applicants were members of the Beloit Saloon-keepers' league, which had dabbled in the politics of the city at the last spring election.

Not only did the council as a council refuse the permits, but they placed on record, in the council's proceedings, the minutes of the meeting of the saloonkeepers' organization showing their interest in politics.

This should be a lesson for the future. It should be taken as a warning by the liquor interests the state through and particularly in Rock county.

A campaign is now being waged for the nomination for a candidate for the state senate and for the three members of the assembly from Rock county. These men are to be chosen at the primaries in September next.

Thus far Senator Whitehead and Mr. Chamberlin of Beloit are the only two asking for nomination for the senate, and thus far no candidates have appeared for the assembly positions.

It is learned on authority that cannot be questioned that the liquor element of the county is not pleased with either the selection of Senator Whitehead or Mr. Chamberlin. They desire a man who will watch after their interests.

With this in view they have approached several local politicians seeking a candidate. They are mixing in politics. They are seeking to dominate the choice of the people's candidates for positions of trust in the next legislature when they fear laws inimical to their business and methods are to come up.

Not only have they sought candidates for the state senate but also for the assembly. Of the three Rock county members of the assembly but one is considered "right"—the member from Beloit.

Hon. Phyl Norcross and Hon. A. S. Baker of Evansville are thought to be dangerous and men are being groomed to announce themselves as candidates as their successors—men who are "right."

The lesson taught by the Beloit council last evening should be a warning. It should be studied carefully. If the saloons want to enter politics they must take the consequences.

In Beloit the minutes of the meetings of their league showed that they had a candidate in each ward for alderman and paid his expenses. Thanks to the good morals of Beloit these men were defeated.

One representative of the liquor element said recently: "The time has come for us to fight. The laws that are passing are working us an injury. We must protect our interests."

The time has come for the liquor element to fight.

They must fight if they want to retain their status under the law, but the fight is not against the state laws, but against the disorderly members of their own class.

If the liquor men, the brewers, the wholesale whiskey dealers would begin their fight by purging themself of their undesirable associates, and would see that the saloons that are under their control lived up to the law they would have the support of every good and loyal citizen.

It is not a question of opposition to the liquor traffic as a traffic, that has aroused such opposition, but as to the methods employed by the liquor people in conducting their business.

If they wish the protection of the law they should observe it, but as an element they should not enter the political field with candidates who will further their interests.

The common council last evening turned down a measure to license the cement sidewalk builders. The measure was for the protection of the property owners and tax payers and if passed would have insured a good quality of walks in the future. Similar ordinances exist in Madison, Racine and other progressive cities and would have been a good thing for Janesville.

Senator Stephenson promises some surprises for the other candidates for his seat. He is a campaigner of the old school and believes in doing things when he starts out, so the public can look out for something to drop when he gets busy.

The day is saved. Temporary Chairman Bell of the democratic convention has arrived on the scene of battle. Like Sheridan, he was far away, but came on the scene in the nick of time. Fresh from Bryan he will doubtless show the faithful how to conduct a convention.

Secretary Taft is calling together the members of the national committee and others from each state for a conference. Congressman Cooper, who opposed Taft by vote and in the platform he desired, is the latest to be summoned to Hot Springs for a meeting.

They say that Bryan is going to take a special train for Denver if he is not nominated on the first ballot. No need for the special. The first ballot will be sufficient. The fight is merely a pretense of men who would like to have a square deal.

The Milwaukee democratic leaders claim that Bryan or the democratic nominee for President can carry Wisconsin. They have claimed it every year or so but with the exception of Cleveland's election they have failed utterly to make good on their promises.

Radicalism in any reform is a bad thing. There is a happy medium for everything although when a cancerous tumor appears the only way to save the life of the patient is to cut the sore out and sometimes this hurts the patient terribly.

Fifty-one saloons received permits to sell liquor last evening and the license fee was paid. Now it is up to the saloon men to see that they observe the law they swore to support when they filed their applications.

Attorney General Frank Gilbert has his papers out for renomination and they are being liberally signed. He has made a good state official and deserves renomination and election.

Opposition to Governor Davidson has dwindled down to nothing. While it never did amount to much, still no one in the field is easier than having even a wooden Indian to run against.

Thos. S. Nolan is busy these days building up his political fences. Present indications are that he is using cement posts as to insure stability when the rush comes about primary day.

Denver appears to be the seat of war today. The valiant Colonel Outley of Pennsylvania, is charging honors with the bowdlerized "Col." Ham Lewis, of Chicago.

Senator Whiteheads' renomination long service to the county as its representative deserves recognition by renomination and election.

So Madame Gould and Prince Hullo DeSagun are married at last. Poor Bond had nothing to say about it after all.

The fight for the office of sheriff appears to be the all absorbing topic of conversation in county political circles just now.

Tammam Hall has arrived in Denver, exhausted strong, but alas and alack now they are there, they have no seats for the convention.

The police muddle is up before the court again today. That is it is up for the first time.

Colonel Bryans farm is the Mecca for all true and loyal sons of democracy.

To Match His Coat.

Robert Walton Goelet, at a meeting of the Astor Trust company's directors, in New York, said of a certain broker:

"The man's nerve is amazing. It shocks me. It reminds me of a money lender to whom a friend of mine, a great rider to hounds, once resorted.

"Yes," said the money lender to my embarrassed friend, "I will renew your note, but only on one condition, namely, that during the next paper chase at Lenox you scatter from your bag those 5,000 pink slips bearing my name and the words, 'Money advanced on easy terms.' Is it a go, sir?"

HOW TO BE HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED

Remember to keep your troubles in the family.

Remember that a quarrel should be "made up" as soon as possible.

Remember that married life is a full and not a limited partnership.

Remember that your partner is a human being—neither a hero nor an angel.

Remember that marriage is for better or for worse, especially the latter.

Remember that there should be a full understanding as to income and expenditures.

Remember to be patient and kind, slow to anger and plentiful in charity.

Remember to dress for one another a little, not entirely for society.

Remember to be agreeable—not so agreeable perhaps as in courtship (which is scarcely possible), but agreeable.

Remember to be sent in the use of endearing terms like "dear" and "darling" in public, but plentiful in private.

Remember that a soft answer turneth away wrath and that grievous words stir up anger.

Remember that the woman who saves money is as good and useful to the partnership as the man who makes it.

Remember that confidence and thoughtfulness and faithfulness in one partner beget like virtues in the other partner.

Remember that a good husband is worth more than millions of money and a good wife is above rubles.

Remember that love believeth all things, beareth all things, hopeth all things; that love suffereth long and is kind.

Remember that the human heart craves fellowship and gentleness and kind words, always and everywhere.

Remember that it is easy to see the failings of another and difficult to know your own weaknesses.

Remember that your partner will meet you halfway or, if not, if you will go a little way further, will surely meet you.

Remember that you cannot afford to dissolve the partnership, save it may be for actual treason to the firm.

And remember—

That you can afford to make every sacrifice and endure many things for the sake of harmony and right relations.

KEEPS THE SHOES IN SHAPE.

Feedstore Man Shows His Customer a New Wrinkle.

A pale clerk departed with a large paper bag of oats under his arm.

"No," said the feedstore man, "he doesn't eat 'em for breakfast food. He uses 'em for boot-trees."

"Sure for boot-trees?"

"Oats. Every night, as soon as he gets home, he takes off his wet and muddy boots, laces 'em up, and fills 'em with oats. What happens? The oats, like blotting paper, absorb all the moisture out of the leather and swells accordin', plumpin' the boots out spongy, restorin' 'em to their original shape, takin' every wrinkle away."

"So, in the mornin', the man empties his oats back into the bag, and no matter how shabby yesterday's walkin' had been, he now puts on a pair of perfectly dry, new-lookin' boots."

"Yes, I do quite a city trade in oats," ended the feed man. "Clorin and typhoid, male and female, all such as can't afford made-to-order, trees—they cost, you know, ten dollars a pair—are learnin' to use oat trees instead. Shall I put you up a pair in this here bag? Five cents is all."

MARK TWAIN'S JOKE.

This One Has a Moral Which Does Not Require a Label.

AND IT SUGGESTS A SERMON.

The Text is Advertising, and the Talk is on How to Catch and Hold Home Trade and Build Up the Business and the Burg Together.

Mark Twain is an inveterate joker, as most people have discovered, but very often there is a distinct moral to one of his jokes which does not require to be labeled; it can be seen with the naked eye. Many years ago the now famous humorist was editor of the Enterprise, a newspaper published at Virginia City, Nev. One day he received a letter from a subscriber who appeared to be a bit superstitious. The subscriber explained that he had found in his copy of the Enterprise that week a live spider, and he wanted to know whether that meant good luck or bad luck. Editor Mark, who was plain Sam Clemens at that period, sat himself down and wrote a brief reply in his "Answers to Correspondents" column. "That spider," he said, "was merely looking over the columns of the Enterprise to find out what merchant doesn't advertise in his home paper. The spider wants to go and spin its web across the door of that man's place of business, so that it may have a long life of undisturbed serenity."

This is the age of advertising. If you doubt it, just take note of the fact that up to a few months ago the circulation of the leading mail order magazines of the United States aggregated 25,000,000 copies. Why? The "literature" contained in most of such publications is not of high class, and there is no such enormous demand for that class of journals merely for reading purposes. Their circulation had been pushed by various methods, in many cases the papers being practically given away to carry the advertising of big city establishments and smaller catchpenny schemes to the town and country districts. These papers with their enormous circulation were supported by advertising. The advertising even paid for the white paper and the expense of mailing. Advertisers paid a stiff rate because they were satisfied of the wide circulation of the sheets. They knew a good thing when they saw it, and they were willing to pay for it.

It is estimated that since the recent ruling of the postoffice department regarding subscription lists and sample copies no less than 18,000,000 of this enormous circulation has been cut off compulsorily. Many of the journals with the biggest circulation have suspended altogether.

The local merchant may congratulate himself upon this fact, but there are many reasons why he should not sit down placidly and expect to get back such patronage as the mail order people have taken away from him. The biggest concern in the cities, which thrive on trade from country districts, by mail orders, print gigantic catalogues and distribute them with a generous hand. These catalogues carry price lists and pictures and descriptions of goods which could not be printed in mail order journals because of the high cost of space and the lack of enough space to accommodate the printed matter. The catalogues are in no wise affected by the postal rulings. Now that the mail order advertising avenues are fewer than they were the catalogue houses are sure to increase their output of catalogues. They will buy up the names and addresses of the defunct subscription and sample copy lists and flood the country with catalogues.

As remarked, this is an advertising age. The home merchant, if he holds his trade or hopes to increase it, must be awake and active. Unless he takes measures to keep his business and his bargains before the eyes of the people dwelling in his trade radius he cannot expect prosperity. The home newspaper is the one medium for disseminating publicity to the people. Men, women and children in town and country have acquired the habit of reading advertising matter to find what they want. If they do not discover in the home newspaper any hints as to bargains which may be seen in town with the naked eye, they are inclined to take their chances on purchasing by mail from the catalogue hints.

It may be taken for granted that most people prefer to spend their money in the home town if they can get what they want at reasonable rates. They are always on the lookout for bargains. The catalogue people are very well aware of this fact, and they act accordingly. To combat mail trade the local merchant must realize this fact and get in line with the spirit of the age, which means that he must advertise.

Advisory Boards on Art.

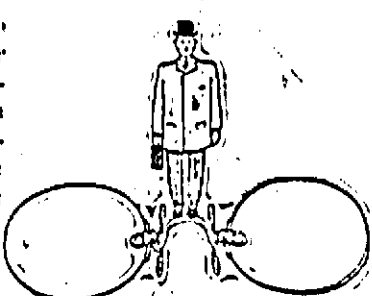

In several cities and towns there have been of late an advisory board of art instituted whose duty shall be to consider and report upon plans for public structures, monuments, fountains, etc. The questionable influences too often brought to bear upon such matters could, through the work of this committee, be checked and great good done to the country in general and the city and town in particular. The average citizen, having made little or no study of art as a whole or in any of its various branches, is in no wise fitted to sit in judgment upon matters of such grave importance to the upbuilding of the city and town beautiful.

BOGUS CHECK MAN
WENT TO WAUPUN

Edwin Thompson Pleaded Guilty in Municipal Court This Morning and as Sent up for One Year.

Edwin Thompson the man who was arrested last Fourth for trying to pass a bogus check for $7.25 at Herman Hugg's saloon, entered a plea of guilty in municipal court this morning. Asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, the prisoner told the court that he had been led to his undoing. He said that he wanted to send $5 to his little family in the east and have some money left to get out of town. His real name, he admitted, was not Thompson, but rather than have his wife learn what had happened he would go to the penitentiary for the rest of his natural life. Having their conclusions upon his excellent penmanship and gift of language, the officers are convinced that the man has been something more than a common laborer and they are hatching a few conjectures as to whether or not he may not be badly wanted in his former home. Judge Pifford committed him to the state's prison at Waupun for one year.

BELOIT SALOONS
RECEIVE JOLTS
BY THE COUNCIL

LINE CITY SPRINGS SURPRISE ON LIQUOR DEALERS.

TWENTY-FIVE ARE REFUSED

Licenses to Continue in Business—
—Were Members of the Saloon-men's League.

Beloit is almost dry today. By the action of the common council last evening twenty-five saloons were forced to close their doors last night and can not open them again unless the council relents.

This is the climax in the fight that has been waged by the council of the Line City against the saloon-keepers. Protective league that played such an important part in last spring's election.

When the licenses were asked for by the saloon men they were referred to the committee of the council having it in charge. This committee held what might be termed a star chamber session with the liquor men seeking privileges to sell liquor.

These sessions were prolonged and minute in examination and as a result the committee reported to the council that the twenty-five members of the league should not receive licenses.

This report was made at last night's session when the petitions of thirty-three saloons and two wholesale liquor licenses were brought up.

Twenty-five of them, all members of the league, were laid on the table and as a result thirty saloons closed their doors last night at 10:30, and but eight will open them this morning.

It was a complete surprise to the league and their followers. They had anticipated no such trouble and they were too stunned to take any action. Not only did the committee decide to refuse these men the licenses asked for but they placed on record the minutes of the league in which political plans were laid to defeat certain members at the spring election.

This constituted an interesting exhibit and was ordered printed in the council proceedings. In it was shown that the league had received financial aid from different breweries, including one from Janesville, and personal contributions of the different members of the league for campaign purposes; that this money was used to run candidates for office and pay their expenses.

Immediately following the spring election the cry of fraud went up in Beloit. While the council selected was not composed of the men favored by the saloons, the illegal voting and perjury charges led to an investigation by District Attorney Fisher.

Headings were held in the Beloit municipal court before Judge Ross, testimony taken which showed a campaign fund had been raised, the minutes of the league's meetings put in evidence and several convictions obtained for which small fines were paid.

All the cases have not yet been disposed of and one is before the circuit court and another is pending in the Beloit municipal court.

Not only was this done but the state's attorney was informed of the status of affairs and a deputy went to Beloit and carefully reviewed the matter. The council even went further and passed a resolution calling the attention of the legal powers of the government to the conditions and the contributions for campaign purposes, of the breweries.

While the end of the affair does not yet seem in sight, twenty-five of the Beloit saloons have no license today and the affair has created more than excitement in the Line City.

It is certain the men refused licenses will endeavor to secure them by legal means, but just what methods will be used has not been decided upon as yet.

The Victim of Drink

Needs Orrino Treatment

Drink first destroys ambition; breaks up ties of friendship; it kills and buries love and eventually destroys the family life.

Some of the best men in the world have been victims of drink and if there is not some member in your family that is afflicted with this disease, you are indeed fortunate.

Drink enervates the will power, and while the drunkard wants to do what you tell him, he wants a thousand times more the drink that he craves.

Drunkness is no longer considered a crime; eminent scientists and physicians have agreed that it is a disease and must be treated as such.

The home treatment that has been used for a number of years, and is highly successful, is Orrino. It is sold under a positive guarantee that if it does not effect a cure your money will be refunded.

Orrino is in two forms: When desired to give secretly, purchase Orrino No. 1, and if the patient will voluntarily take the treatment, Orrino No. 2 should be given. The guarantee is the same in either case. Orrino costs but $1 per box. Mailed in plain sealed wrapper on receipt of price. Write for free treatise on "Drunkness," mailed in sealed envelope by The Orrino Co., Washington, D. C., and in this city by People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy.

BEAUTY IN THE COUNTRY.

Suggestions For Making Farms and Rural Homes Attractive.

Financial circumstances are often such that the farmer cannot adorn his farm with expensive houses, barns and lawns. But this lack of means should not discourage the average man, for there is no reason why his home should not be beautiful. There are homes where we see these improvements, yet there may be no element of beauty lacking to those who love beauty for beauty's sake. Cleanliness, good taste and a certain amount of pride must be seen or beauty will be lacking. There is a lack of taste and management in some country homes to be deplored.

We see country homes, one after another, almost entirely without flowers. Sometimes we judge it is because the women do not have time to care for them, but more often we believe it is because of the lack of love for flowers that they are missing.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hadden of Delvidero were over Sunday guests of C. H. Hadden and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cole received word that their grand son—Leslie Caldwell, aged thirteen—was seriously injured at his home in Beloit on July Fourth. This boy was playing with a small cannon when it exploded and shot him in the limb, between the hip and knee. He was removed to the hospital and at present it is thought he will recover.

Next Sunday evening a union meeting will be held in the First Baptist church and, by request, Rev. F. W. North will give a report of the International Sunday school convention which he recently attended in Louisville, Kentucky.

LIVED IN BROODHEAD DURING HIS CAREER

Man Under Arrest for Horrible Crime in Green County.

William H. Dyer, aged forty, for some time a resident of Broodhead, Green county, Wis., Illinois, on July 6, confessed to the charges preferred against him by the jury of Kane.

him with an infinite pity and a glowing attraction. Her life was as dead or frozen. It seemed to as though all Kravonin must be to the tomb of him whose grave in little hillside church of Volenski she so often. An ardent and overpowering desire rose in him to rescue to drag her forth from those dark shades into the sunlight of life in. Then the spell of this frozen might be broken; then should her spring glories revive and bloom in. Kravonin and who ruled there—in his heart even the fate of the poor little city which harbored them whose interest he pleaded—were thoughts to him beside Sophy. On her thoughts were centered.

Sophy's own mind in these days can gathered only from what others said. She made no record of it. Fallen a hour from heights of love and and exaltation, she lay stunned the abyss. In intellect calm and collected, she seems to have been as one rapt in feeling, too maimed for suffering as though from a mortification of the heart. The simple men women of Volenski looked on her awe and chattered fearfully of suffering star; how that its wearer had predestined to high enterprise, predestined to mighty reverses of fortune. Amid all their pity for her spoke of the evil eye. Some whispered that she had come to bring ruin to Volenski. Hadn't the man who lost his last both crown and life?

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 7, 1868.—Arrested for threatening to kill—Upon complaint of Edward McCormick, Vm. Kanary was arrested to-day by officer Johnson for threatening to kill the complainant. McCormick alleged that Kanary said he was responsible for the death of Kanary's brother, in the quarry and he proposed to take his life in revenge.

Discharged.—Edward McCormick, the man who had charge of the blasting at Milwaukee quarry at the time of the accident to Kanary, was arrested for manslaughter, at the instance of the brother of the deceased, and had his examination yesterday before Justice Hudson. The evidence tended to establish the fact that due caution was used, and that there was no good ground for holding the accused for the offense charged. McCormick was accordingly charged.

A Knock Down.—Last evening about eight o'clock two men met near the corner of Milwaukee and River streets, and had some sharp words, which finally resulted in blows. One of them had a package of nails in his hand with which he hit the other sundry blows in his face and head. Wherever the nails struck the skin was punctured like the top of a pepper box, and blood flowed freely from each little wound. He looked pretty, but was really not much hurt. "We know nothing of the quarrel, but the general sentiment seemed to be that the chap who was nailed got what he deserved."

Weather.—Last night we think was the warmest of the season. At an early hour this morning thunder was heard rolling in the distance, but the shower passed to the east of the city. Clouds began to gather in the north and east in the forenoon indicating the approach of a storm. The thermometer meanwhile stood at ninety-two degrees. Showers began about twelve o'clock and for a while the rain was right smart and the mercury fell twenty degrees, but has since risen to eighty-two.
